Supporting Information

Comcast Cable provides organizations and agencies the opportunity to air pro bono public service announcements on cable television. The broadcast time is made available when Comcast has unsold advertising timeslots.

For October and December 2013, the City of Minneapolis has utilized this free airtime to promote ranked-choice voting, Minneapolis Snow Emergency awareness, Beyond the Yellow Ribbon and .

The donated airtime varies month-to-month because the unsold slots vary, so the total cannot be tallied until after the public service announcements have aired. Comcast has expressed an interest in continuing to offer donated time slots to the City of Minneapolis for public service announcements in the foreseeable future.
